

How to Order:

The Instructional Resources Unit loans a variety of entrepreneurial development resources to Manitoba educators. Items can be requested in person, by phone, mail, fax or electronic mail. You must be registered with the Library to borrow resources.

To register as a patron, renew resources, and inquire about the loan of resources contact:

Circulation Services
Manitoba Education, Citizenship and Youth
1181 Portage Avenue
Winnipeg, MB R3G 0T3

Telephone: Winnipeg: 204-945-5371
Toll free in Manitoba – 800-282-8069, ext. 5371
Fax: 204-945-8756
E-mail: irucirc@gov.mb.ca

Resources Available:

Aboriginal Entrepreneurship Resources

1) This videocassette examines the experiences of 4 Aboriginal entrepreneurs- their challenges and their successes

Author: Lisa Meeches
Call#: 2889

2.) Title: Bosses (DVD)

Author: North Filmwest Bosses Production
Call# I: D=10740

Bosses is a DVD that describes ups and downs of being a boss.

3.) Title: Entrepreneurial Spirit (videocassette)

Author: Meeches, Nolan
Call#: 2613

The cassette explains challenges Aboriginal entrepreneurs face in Canada. It even talks about a debate on how, many people believe more First Nation's people should become entrepreneurs to build economic survival. Others believe this is contrary to native culture and traditions.

4.) Title: Entrepreneurship (Book)

Author: Lori Cranson, Madeline Dennis
Call: 658.11 k74 2001
Edition: 2nd ed.

A recommended senior 3 resource, which includes three textbooks for secondary teaching
New business enterprises, Entrepreneurship, Business planning

5.) Title: Entrepreneurship: Creating a Venture Student workbook A (Book)

Author: Lori Cranson, Madeline Dennis,
Call: 658.11 K74wb v.A 2002
Edition 2nd edition

A recommended Manitoba Senior 3 resource (Manitoba Review)

This includes 3 text books for secondary teaching: New Business enterprises

Entrepreneurship, Business planning

6.) Title: The Invisible Hand: Economics of daily life (DVD)

Author: Learning Visual Education Centre

Call: D-10953

The invisible hand DVD covers eleven different topics (Grade 7-12)

Business, Commerce, Comparative advantage (International trade)

Consumer Behavior, Economics, Entrepreneurship, Opportunity costs,

Prices Profit, Progress, Supply and demand

The DVD is divided into eight different chapters so that you're able to pause and discuss what you viewed. The program explains economics in relation with money, time, and resources; it illustrates the decision making involved in economics. It also talks about opportunity cost and defines price so it looks at the effect it has on supply, demand, and profit. It explores incentive as an economic force, and describes the effect that "unintended consequences" have on this force. The importance of productivity, technological, innovation, and employment patterns are examined in relation to economic growth. It also explores the concept of trade, defining it explains how and why it is used.

7.) Title: Virtual Resources centre / produced and distributed by Canadian Foundation for Economic Education (CD ROM)

Author: Canadian Foundation for Economic Education Canadian Youth Foundation Canada

Human Resources Development Canada Career Circuit Carriere.

Call: 3583

This CD ROM is based on a resource made for people that work with youth. It explains themes that include money matters, career and life work exploration and planning, education and training, work skills, workplace realities (the workplace), work discovery and work creation, personal potential, and the economy windows 95 or 98. (Grade 12, adult education and professional development.

Youth Vocational Guidance

Youth Employment

Youth Services

8.) Leader Next: Developing the next generation of leaders / the Leader Next facilitator's guide / developed / (Book)

Author: Nancy Ward

Call: 658.4 L43

This book explains four different topics involved with leadership.

Leadership Study and teaching (Secondary)

Leadership Study and teaching (Elementary)

Management Study and teaching

Executive ability Study and teaching

9.) Title: Fight the Fuzzy (DVD)

Author: Mike Rutherford, Kurt Russell, Vivianne Collins

Call: D-11291

Fight the fuzzy is a DVD that is very useful to help teachers teach leadership and students learn leadership. The program opens up with questions leaders would deal with every day it explains how the world is made of two different thinkers fuzzy and focused. Leaders that fight the fuzzy thinking are more likely to become leaders by developing a clear mission and vision that will keep their team on course and focused on an objective.

(For middle school and high school students)

Leadership

Executives

Training

Management

Organizational effectiveness

Success in business
Mission statements
Communication in management
Thought and thinking
Performance
Motivation (Psychology)
Miracle (Motion picture)

10.) Title: Develop Dynamic Habits (DVD)

Author Mike Rutherford

Call: D-11292

This DVD is the 2nd program that reveals great leadership is about great life management people may think they already manage their life well enough. The DVD asks several questions if you can honestly answer them than you probably do manage your life well. This DVD says we all have small and big rocks in a jar that represents life the big rocks represent your priorities and goals when come aware of this the question changes to How do I fit the big rocks in the jar? There are three different principles that define the framework of a leader.

A clear purpose

Thoughtful Choices

Reliance on Dynamic Habits

(For middle years and high school students)

Leadership

Executive

Training

Management

Organizational

Success in business

Performance

Choice (Psychology)

Decision making

Business planning

Goal (Psychology)

Self-management (Psychology)

Seabiscuit (Motion picture)

11.) Title: Communication in 3D (DVD)

Author: Mike Rutherford, Russell Crowe, Vivianne Collins

Call: D-11293

This third program considers how communication skills are essential to becoming a great leader. Did you know that people are number one scared of death and number two scared of public speaking even though most of us are scared to death to public speak. All it really is a conversation between you and a audience or it could be a one on one with an individual. Great leaders must be able to communicate with each of their team members and understand what motivates each one and determine their strengths and weaknesses. The DVD also helps them steer through the three dimensions of a powerful communicator Public, Interpersonal, and Intrapersonal.

(Middle years and high school students)

Leadership

Executives

Training

Management

Organizational effectiveness

Success in business

Performance

Self-perception

Public speaking

Communication in management
Motivation (Psychology)
Interpersonal communication
Master and commander (Motion picture)

12.) Title: Cook up Positive Change (DVD)
Author: Mike Rutherford, Denzel Washington, Vivianne Collins
Call: D-11294

The fourth program explains the importance of change whether you're trying to change your grades, your team, your school, or whatever change can be difficult. Change is necessary in order to achieve worthy goals. Change is the only way to get something done. Most people don't want to change but a great leader can bring about change in a way that makes an organization or community a better place. In order to make a positive change in an organization, community or school you have to have the right recipe. The ingredients are in the DVD.

Middle school and high school students
Leadership
Executives
Training
Management
Organizational effectiveness
Success in business
Performance
Motivation (Psychology)
Organizational change
Organizational behavior
Remember the Titans (Motion picture)

13.) Title: Know Yourself (DVD)
Author: Mike Rutherford, Vivianne Collins, Peter Paker
Call: D-11295

The fifth program tells you that you have to know yourself as a person before becoming a leader. Understanding your strengths and weaknesses and what makes you tick or what makes you ticked. It would be impossible to lead others to accomplish great things if the leader did not know themselves as a person inside out.

(Middle years and high school students)
Leadership
Executive
Training
Management
Success in business
Performance
Self-perception
Self
Interpersonal communication
Interpersonal relations
Spiderman 2 (Motion picture)

14.) Title: Shape the invisible forces (DVD)
Author: Mike Rutherford, Vivianne Collins, Lindsay Lohan
Call: D-11296

The sixth program opens with the question Have you tried to accomplish a task but something that you couldn't see or even understand prevented you from getting it done. This kind of situation would have an invisible force. The invisible force comes from the three Cs, which are Culture, Climate, and Community. In order to become a great leader you have to be aware of your surroundings Example: pretend you're the general of your troops; you have to know the kind of battle you're fighting. You have to understand how your soldiers think and what motivates them as individuals as well as a group. To win the battle, you must be able to anticipate what your friends and your enemies are thinking.

(Middle years and high school students)

Leadership

Executives

Training

Management

Organizational effectiveness

Success in business

Performance

Organizational behavior

Corporate culture

Psychology, Industrial

Communication in management

Interpersonal relations

Employee motivation

Motivation (Psychology)

Mean Girls (Motion picture)

15.) Title: Create Turbo Teams (DVD)

Author: Mike Rutherford, Vivianne Collins, Jack Black

Call: D-11297

'You've probably heard the saying, "Leaders must lead." Sounds obvious? We know leadership is built on a leader's ability to do a lot of things. But a leader isn't leading unless he or she has a team to lead. A leader must develop powerful, effective, and focused teams, Turbo Teams, top accomplish worth tasks. Turbo Teams are critical to leader's success, even if you're Jack Black trying to create a rock band from a group of prep school students in the movie School of Rock. Jack Black states I don't look for the best people. I look for the right people.

(Middle years and high school students)

Leadership

Executives

Management

Organizational effectiveness

Success in business

Performance

Organizational behavior

Corporate culture

Psychology, Industrial

Interpersonal relations

Industrial project management

Motivation (Psychology)

Teams in the workplace

School of Rock (Motion picture)

16.) Title: Set Your Moral Compass (DVD)

Author: Mike Rutherford, Vivianne Collins, and Tom Cruise

Call: D-11298

The eighth program asks viewer to "think of your favourite leader. How would you describe that person? Is this an individual with a clear vision and a strong mission? Is he or she a great public speaker? Maybe all of these things. But what about core values and integrity? Today, these aren't the first characteristics people think of when talking about leadership. At LeaderNext, we think the words moral and leadership are a match made in heaven. Much of the morality in leadership revolves around a leader's willingness to serve the team by meeting their needs.

Middle years and high school students

Leadership

Executives

Training

Management

Organizational effectiveness

Success in business

Performance

Leadership Moral and ethnic aspects

Management Moral and ethnic aspects

Social responsibility of business

Communication in management

Business ethnics

Integrity

Last samurai (Motion picture)